Italy's Land of Lakes

CARVED from the Alps, gemlike lakes glitter in the Italian boot top. Ice, gouging southward millions of years ago, scooped out their basins, and man came to settle their shores. In time he embellished nature with the glories of Italian architecture. The region blends soaring peaks with lush Mediterranean vegetation. The waters of Lake Orta, westernmost of the sub-alpine lakes, flow northward, eventually emptying into Maggiore, longest of the lakes. To the east of Lugano, almost entirely Swiss, sprawls three-pronged Como with its celebrated villas and resorts. Lakes Iseo and Idro, though smaller and less famous than their neighbors, play host to almost as many visitors. Largest in area, Garda marks the eastern limit of Lombardy's lake country.
